
Blue Marble University

Surapol Songkhla M.D, Director of Admissions
Admissions@BlueMarbleUniversity.com

40 Hillsborough Street
Roseau, 00152
Commonwealth of Dominica

<http://BlueMarbleUniversity.com>

January 1, 2025

RE: Blue Marble University Bachelor Degree in Medicine Not for Clinical Practice

Blue Marble University offers many exciting avant-garde Bachelor programs and one of our most popular is our Bachelor of Science [B.S.] in Medicine.

This Degree is for use in medical careers that do not involve patient care:

Notice: The BS in Medicine degree issued by Blue Marble University can never be used for physician licensing purposes, to satisfy any education requirements for licensing as a physician or other health care provider, or for any career or profession involving direct patient care. In the USA and most countries, it is illegal to hold oneself out as a licensed physician unless one is in fact licensed. Coursework completed in this program may not qualify as transfer credits to any other institution, it really is up to the receiving institution.

For U.S. and Canadian students, what this means is:

That you will not qualify to sit for (take) any U.S. medical or nursing licensing exams.

You cannot transfer any of our credits to any program leading to any health care license such as nurse or physician's assistant.

You cannot use our program, degree, or courses for any licensed health care profession.

You do not qualify for any clinical rotations or training.

You cannot become a physician treating patients.

You cannot transfer our courses to any other program.

Other Countries: We are not expert on the rules and regulations for other countries including non-western countries, such as India or African countries as to whether our BS in Medicine degree could qualify you for additional clinical training in your country leading to eventual licensure in the health care field. However, our BS in Medicine degree is not intended for any such purpose.

What is the purpose of our BS in Medicine degree: Our BS in Medicine degree trains you in the medical arts for rewarding careers in Medicine that do not involve direct patient care one-on-one.

So, sorry to disappoint, but we serve students wishing to pursue careers in medically related fields that do not involve you treating specific patients.

Our graduates find homes in the pharmaceutical industry, government and health insurance regulatory agencies, the medical insurance industry, clinic and nursing home administration, research, medical writing, and the medical devices industry.

If, after careful study of our main website and all topics noted in the top Navigation Bar or Menu, you still have questions, we are happy to help.

Please direct all further inquiries to:

Admissions@BlueMarbleUniversity.com

Surapol Songkhla, M.D.
Director of Admissions
Admissions Office
Blue Marble University
Commonwealth of Dominica